A PERSONALIZED GUIDE

When a Loved One Is in Treatment

How families can share the next chapter

HOPE INTEGRATIVE MEDICINE

hopeintegrativemed.com

Table of Contents

1 Family support matters 3

2 What treatment looks like 4

3 Support the plan 5

4 Keep reversal medicine home 6

5 If you see an overdose 7

Chapter One

Family support matters

Research shows family support can play a major role in helping a loved one with substance use disorders.

Chapter Two

What treatment looks like

Medication-assisted treatment pairs medicine with counseling and regular follow-up.

Chapter Three

Support the plan

Medicines for opioid use disorder can be used long term, so talk with the care team before any stop.

Chapter Four

Keep reversal medicine home

An overdose-reversal nasal spray is sold over the counter in all 50 states, and the CDC advises keeping it at home.

Chapter Five

If you see an overdose

Call 911, give the reversal medicine and stay with the person until help arrives.

Epilogue

You are part of the team.

Patience, encouragement and a plan for emergencies all help. Caregivers need support too, and asking for it is part of helping.

Ready to write your next chapter?

In person in Charleston or by telehealth across South Carolina.

BOOK A VISIT

HOPE INTEGRATIVE MEDICINE

hopeintegrativemed.com